SIccine, Parca, meo nondum ſatiata dolore,
Cauſſa redit luctus materiesq́; noui?
Dum mihi narratur ſinceri funus amici,
Inſtar germani qui mihi fratris erat.
Quis fuit ille, rogas? Hacco pietate, fideq́;,
Et generis clarus nobilitate ſui:
Qui fuit Hulgerus celebri cognomine dictus,
Supremum perhibent hunc obijſſe diem.
Hinc iterum triſtem concepit Dania luctum,
Hinc nouus excruciat meq́; meosq́; dolor.
Vix in corde vetus dolor ille reſederat ægro,
Quem fecit rabie mors truculenta ſuâ.
Cùm mihi tres natos vno iugulaſſet in anno,
Quæ mihi grādæuo ſors minus æqua fuit.
Triſtia quid memorē Friderici funera Regis,
Sub quo Danorum floruit aula potens.
Hæc quoq; ſat magnum nobis peperere dolorē,
Fidus erat patriæ, nam pater ipſe ſuæ.
Nunc quia ſæua duos mihi Parca peremit amicos,
Tertia legitimi cauſſa doloris adeſt:

Hulgerum Caaſumq; puto, quorũ inclyta vir-
Sæpè fuit, conſtans ſæpè probata fides. (tus
Tot ſenſi caſus, tot me preſſêre dolores;
Hinc factus vitæ ſum ſatur ipſe meæ.
O mors, ſolue, precor, tali me carcere vitæ,
Vita mihi dolor eſt; mors erit alma quies.
Quod ſupereſt, ô vos Manes ſaluete, valete,
In Chriſto, donec ſubſequar ipſe, pij.

En mihi qui ſimili fuerat dilectus amore,
[e] Haccius Hulgerus fata ſeuera ſubit:
Dania quem mecum fatis ſibi luget ademtũ,
Hoc ingens etenim perdidit illa bonum.
Scilicet hæc patior dum multa incõmoda vitæ,
Quis non iure velit condoluiſſe mihi? N.
Sed quamuis frangant me pondera multa dolorum:
Non tamen his vnquam ſuccubuiſſe queo;
Aſt mihi in aduerſis ſemper ſolatia præſtat,
